

DIED,

At sea, twelve days after leaving Salem, Captain GEORGE PARKER, commander of the U. S. sloop of war Syren.

At East Haven, Ms. REUBEN MOULTHROP, a celebrated artist in wax, aged 51.

At Lenox. Mr ANDREW HYDE, aged 82, a patriot of the Revolution.

At Medford, Mr. SAMUEL HALL, printer, and formerly conductor of the Castine Eagle, aged 29

In this town, widow DEBORAH FISK, aged 69, sister of the late Gen. Stephen Abbot.

At Boston, Mrs. ELIZABETH HOWARD, 63.

Shocking Event!—On Wednesday night, was shot by a sentry in Marblehead, a black man named CHARLES PEACH, 80 years of age. He was returning with his fiddle from a party he had been playing for, and being hailed he gave a direct answer, and was permitted to proceed. Soon after, he was again hailed, 3 times, when he gave no answer; he was then required to stand, but continued advancing towards the sentry, who then fired, and the ball passed through his body; he lingered about 4 hours, and expired.

Query.—Would not the safety of our towns be as well secured, were the centinels directed, instead of shooting inconsiderate or ignorant people, to take them up and carry them to the guard house?
